Raleigh, NC – The Roof Consultants Institute (RCI) Foundation, moved by the devastation wrought by Hurricane Katrina has donated $20,000 to the American Red Cross. The Red Cross, through its Hurricane Katrina Relief Operation will use the financial gift to help provide shelter, food, counseling and other assistance to those in need.

"It's gratifying to participate in an organization that recognizes when it must go beyond the stated mission of its purpose, " said Patrick D. McGrady an RCI Foundation Board Member. "There are times when people and organizations need to step up and help their fellow man, and this is one of those times." Chairman Joe Hale, FRCI, furthered, "Thanks to the generosity of our supporters, the Foundation is in a position to help."

The Roof Consultants Institute Foundation is a tax-exempt 501(c)(3) organization committed to education and research. Its mission is to "to support research, education, and the dissemination of information for issues important to the industry."
